REVOLVER SHOOT.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Former Champion A. L. A. Himmelwright, changed from the revolver to the pistol last night in the continuation of the national championship on the ranges of the Manhattan Rifle & Revolver Association's gallery. His two best targets totaled 94 and 91, respectively. J. E. Silliman scored several targets with the pistol, his best showing a total of 89. Three of the competitors devoted themselves to the revolver. H. Lotz made one of 98 and several others above 90. Thomas Anderson's best target scored 87, while Thomas Le Boutilliere's best was also 87.

EXPECTS UPRISING

Russian Revolutionist Predicts Revolt in Spring.

THE PEASANTS ARE RESTLESS

Russian Revolutionist Arrives in New York City and States That the People Will Revolt When the Spring Comes.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Nicholas Tehaykovsky, associate of Prince Kropotkin, in the first beginnings of the Russian revolution and for ten years an exile in London, is here in the interests of the revolution of the present day. For a month refugees of pure Russian stock have been drifting into New York. Tehaykovsky comes in advance of forty Russian "intellectuals," and many deserting officers who have fled the country. He has come, he says to raise the money to buy arms for the uprising which he confidently expects as soon as spring breaks in Russia.

Tehaykovsky brings underground news of the revolution from the standpoint of the Social Revolutionists. The Social Revolutionists believe in a resort to the sword but are not to be confused with the Terrorists, who have been back of the assassinations. This Tehaykovsky was one of those young intellectuals who choked the roads to Siberia in the early '80s. Sergius Stepanak and Catherine Breschkovskoy were members of the same group with Tehaykovsky. He himself was arrested three times and spent ten years of his life in jail. After his last imprisonment he retired to England, and he has lived since in that group which has kept up the revolution at a distance. He was born to wealth; and at one time the firm with which he was associated controlled the mineral output of the Caucasus.

"It seems to me that the uprising is coming sooner than we desire," he said last night. "The peasants will hardly be denied. The impression in the United States that the peasants are with the conservatives is wrong. Their condition is desperate. They are not organizing for the revolution, but they are ready to break loose on their own account. They want a new allotment of land; that is the chief of their troubles now."

"Before the Serfs were liberated the allotment of land was ten acres to a peasant. After the liberation of the Serfs this fell to seven acres. The agrarian population of Russia has nearly doubled since, but there has been no increase in the land allotment. That shortage of land, together with the increase of taxes, has kept them nearly bankrupt. Then came the war. Of disease and wounds there died about 300,000 peasants. Their families were thrown on the hands of the other peasants for support; the government would do nothing for them. Then there arrived the crippled soldiers from Manchuria, for a further burden to their friends and relatives. The country has been on the verge of ruin.

"Now the peasants declare that in case there is not a new allotment of land in the spring they will plow all over the public lands and the estates of the nobles. That ploughing over has a meaning in peasant custom. It signifies that they have taken possession of the land in their own rights. Then the government will send troops, the peasants will resist, and the fight will be on."

"Trouble will probably occur when the elections for the Douma really come. The only thing I fear is that it will come before we have our forces armed and ready."

BEAUTIFY CAPITOL DANGEROUS SONGS

Plans Made to Make Washington More Attractive.

NATION IS WATCHING OREGON

Coming Political Contest in This State Viewed in the East With Interest—Fears That Oregon Will Go Democratic.

ASTORIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., March 21.—When what is generally accepted as the permanent plan of improvement of the National Capitol, is fully executed, Washington will be perhaps the most beautiful national capital of the world. Construction of a new building for the Geological Survey, which is being agitated just now, has called public attention to the Burnham commission report, which was formulated under the direction of the late Senator McMillan.

Taking the original Federal area chosen by the first president as the basis for its development, the Burnham commission proposes to arrange all Federal buildings in a triangular figure, of which the capitol and immediate circle of buildings, forms the apex. The base would be on the line of the hypotenuse. This figure would embrace all of the existing Federal buildings, save that of the Interior Department. Ornamental features recommended by the commission are elaborate, and take full advantage of the topography of Washington. Parks, fountains, memorial edifices and sightly buildings are placed in the report to best advantage, and the historic pride of the country is given full opportunity for wonderful groups of works that would prove world-famous, if executed.

At the time of making the report to the Senate, the commission did not contemplate immediate fulfillment of the idea, but calculated upon a permanent plan, with the thought of giving a harmonious order to all succeeding work. The report was never adopted by the House of Representatives, but is generally accepted as the line of development for the city in the future. Before all of the buildings indicated and all of the parks, promenades, fountains and memorials have been erected, the expenditure will be enormous, and it was the impossibility of the government undertaking immediate execution because of the gigantic outlay, that has caused many to believe the plan rejected. But it is found that new work conforms to the outline made by that commission, and it is believed that Washington will some day be as planned by the Burnham commission, with possible additions and amplifications in keeping with the spirit of national growth.

Attention on Oregon.
National attention is turning to Oregon's political contest, which is to be the advance guard of the next general election. This week Oregon was much discussed. The tariff revision sentiment of the East believes that the "stand-patters" are hurting the Republican party, and where not laboring with this conviction, are using the argument to coerce promise of some form of revision. Delay in enacting railway-rate legislation has been seized upon as another token of a squall. Philippine tariff bills, yet pending, with little promise of becoming law, are also seized up as another omen of discontent in the party.

With various arguments pro and con, a real interest is being generated. Oregon, being first, is first in point of interest, chronologically at least. Party leaders everywhere in the East are asking if there is prospect of Oregon turning. They grasp at everything of an intelligent stamp bearing on this question. Republicans do not veil their uneasiness. They note that a Democrat is governor, a Democrat mayor of the principal cities, and a Democrat has been appointed Senator. If the Democrat should be returned to the Senate by popular vote, and one or two congressmen of the same faith were sent on, consternation would not indicate the feeling here. In view of these bare possibilities, Republican leaders are eager to show wherein Oregon has everything to gain by keeping in the party ranks of the past. Pains are taken to show how Oregon, with a Democratic delegation, would be placed in the ranks of the Southern states, which can accomplish nothing more in the national legislature than look after local affairs.

To acknowledge an error and to show a disposition to correct the same, is the course adopted by a wise man. It is only the cute fools and smart alecks who never make mistakes.

Sunday School Hymns Characterized As Immoral.

INFLUENCE OF SONGT IS BAD

Chicago Minister Says That the Present Style of Sunday School Songs, is Having Evil Effect on the Children—Ragtime Barred

CHICAGO, March 21.—That the hymns commonly used in Protestant Sunday schools are trivial, grotesque, and frequently dangerous is the opinion of the Rev. William P. Merrill, pastor of the Sixth Presbyterian church, expressed yesterday in an address at the Presbyterian Sunday School Institute held at the Second Presbyterian church. Dr. Merrill spoke on "Music in the Sunday School."

"The trouble with our church and Sunday school music," he said, "is that it is looked upon as a hunter considers the meat which he puts into his trap. We don't have any thought for nourishing the victim after we have got him in the trap. In these days of evolution, when we are in doubt as to whether we should call God 'He' or 'It' we are coming to think it childish to feel that God wants the worship of his children, but the attitude of devotion is what we need."

"Songs concerned with the sorrow and pain of this life, the longing for 'The Heavenly Home,' and the like, are dangerous and grotesque in a Sunday school, if indeed they have a place anywhere."

"Doggerel and other trash should be ruled out of the Sunday school, and ragtime music should be strictly barred. "Evangelistic hymns are absolutely unfit for the use of children in a Sunday school. The children should have an atmosphere of joyous devotion. We need sorely to arrange our Sunday school music in accord with the Savior's warning against 'Causing the Little Ones to Stumble.'"

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.
